TOWARDS EDUCATION- AND HEALTH-FOR-ALL

CORE ENABLER OF THE 2030 UN AGENDA

WHEC's e-Learning, e-Health and e-Government Platform launched on 24 October 2002, with collaboration of United Nations Department of Public Information (DPI) – to disseminated reproductive health and research.

It is serving with pride in 227 countries and territories; about 14 million visitors per year.

Women's Health and Education Center (WHEC) wishes to express special thanks to these countries and territories for welcoming our educational web-learning project.

Their continuing support is deeply appreciated.

LINK (Learning, Innovating, Networking and Knowledge) Access Project aims to provide access to quality health and educational programs, in collaboration with the World Health Organization (WHO) and United Nations Educational, Scientific, Cultural Organization (UNESCO). The Women's Health and Education Center (WHEC) promotes and implements best practices in both developing and developed countries. WHEC provides free access to educational and reproductive health research programs and courses to Least Developed Countries (LDCs), identified by United Nations Development Programme (UNDP).

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE (AI) LITERACY

Access to AI

Global cooperation and solidarity, including through multilateralism, is needed to facilitate fair access to AI technologies and address the challenges that they bring to diversity and interconnectivity of cultures and ethical systems and to mitigate potential misuse.

To realize the full potential that AI can bring – especially in Health & Education Center.

AI Literacy

AI literacy to the public on all levels in all countries to empower people and reduce digital divides and digital access inequalities resulting from the wide adoption of AI systems is essential.

AI Ethical Issues

Because the complexity of the ethical issues surrounding AI literacy necessitates, the cooperation of multiple stakeholders across various levels and sectors of international, regional and national communities.

Women's Health and Education Center (WHEC) aims to enable stakeholders to take shared responsibility based on a global and intercultural dialogue.

SUMMARY AND TAKE-AWAY MESSAGES

- Preparing the next generation of healthcare providers in the international arena, deepening their knowledge and improving the skill set for a career in global health and global governance is urgently needed.
- Programs are needed for healthcare providers to provide them with academic training and practical knowledge to assist them in providing national and international health care.
- Imagine students in developing countries and the United States, simultaneously reviewing the same medical curriculum and learning from each other. That is e-learning at its BEST in an Internet Classroom, and it is the goal of this Maternal and Child Health Essential Knowledge Portal: WomensHealthSection.com
- We have the knowledge, means and motivation to act. Let us not wait a moment longer.

- Thank You
